

MADERA

Our beautiful threads harmonise style, quality and colour with environmental and ethical needs. Madeira has always subscribed to the philosophy of only using substances which were neither hazardous nor dangerous to people or the valuable eco-system. Madeira is fully committed to sustainability and to an ethical code of conduct to protect and support its workers, in all its companies worldwide. Created with sensitive production processes in the heart of the naturally environmentally conscious “Black Forest”, Madeira’s EnviroSystem applies long term commitment to the global impact of environmental issues, second to none.
