CODE OF CONDUCT
ENVIRONMENTAL PRACTICES

TEE JAYS A/S insists that all Business partners obtain the Oeko-Tex® Standard 100 certification.

This unique certification provides the textile and clothing industry with a globally uniform standard for the objective assessment of the presence of harmful substances. Raw materials, intermediate and end products at all stages of processing throughout the manufacturing chain, including accessories, are tested and certified.

The laboratory tests currently comprise around 100 human, ecological and performance-related test parameters based on international test standards and other recognized testing procedures. These also include simulation tests, which take into account all possible ways by which harmful substances could be absorbed into the human body. Textile products may be certified according to Oeko-Tex® Standard 100 only if all components meet the required criteria without exception. The certificate issued needs to be renewed on an annual basis.

The Oeko-Tex® Standard 100 is consistent with the Company’s own rigorous Environmental Code of Practice, and it should further assure consumers that TEE JAYS A/S is committed to environmentally responsible manufacturing processes.

TEE JAYS

Since 1976

TEE JAYS was founded in 1976 in the beautiful countryside of Alabama, USA by Terry Wylie. Terry’s vision was to produce the best quality commercial T-shirt in the world. A vision he mastered for over 25 years selling millions of the SOF-TEE all over the world.

In 2002 Terry retired at a young age. After many years of friendship and professional collaboration with Terry, we acquired the rights to the TEE JAYS brand name. With a passion for the brand and the vision, we founded a European commercial textile business focusing on the trends from retail and with basics in the correct fit and design. The key elements in the TEE JAYS brand are still quality and design. TEE JAYS designers and technicians continue to develop outstanding styles and qualities, constantly striving to set new standards.

Through generations TEE JAYS continues to have one of Europe’s most unique basic collections. A collection with the best combination of quality and price.

With passion and dedication.
